SENIOR WINS SIBLEY AWARD;
3 FACULTY MEMBERS RECIPIENTS
OF $1,000 STANDARD OIL AWARDS;
TOOLE ALSO HONORED AT UM

MISSOULA--

A graduating senior at the University of Montana received the Robert Sibley Award as Outstanding Male Graduate of 1971, three UM faculty members each received a $1,000 Standard Oil Good Teaching Award and a fourth faculty member received an award for an article he has written during the Senior Awards Banquet Saturday night at UM.

Clayton L. Schenck, Shelby, a graduating senior who receives his bachelor's degree in business administration Sunday, was presented the Robert Sibley Award during the banquet for graduates and their families and UM alumni and friends.

The Standard Oil Good Teaching Awards went to Dr. David Alt, associate professor of geology; Ulysses S. Doss, associate professor and director of the UM Black Studies Program; and Dr. Marguerite H. Ephron, a professor of foreign languages.

Dr. K. Ross Toole, a professor of history, was awarded the George Washington Honor Medal and a check for $100 for his magazine article "I am Tired of the Tyranny of Spoiled Brats," which was published in U.S. News and World Report.

Judge Wesley Castles, Helena, presented the award to Dr. Toole and Dr. Richard G. Landini, UM academic vice president, presented the Sibley and Standard Oil Awards.

Schenck received the Robert Sibley Award of a plaque for his "loyalty and constructive imagination in forwarding the traditions and aspirations of the University." He is son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Schenck, Shelby.

Established in 1953, the Sibley Award commemorates a UM professor of engineering, Robert Sibley, who came to the University in 1903. Sibley established the Singing On the Steps (SOS) for UM students and wrote the words for "Old College Days" (Old College Chums, Dear College Chums), which is sung at the end of each SOS. While at UM, Sibley also was active in promoting athletics as well as other extracurricular activities.

~~SENIOR~~ BANQUET AWARDS--2

While at UM, Schenck was commissioner of the Publications Commission of the Associated Students of the University of Montana. He is a member of the Accounting Club and Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary; Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary; and Alpha Kappa Psi, men's business honorary.

The Standard Oil Good Teaching Awards were presented in recognition of "the importance placed upon superior teaching at the undergraduate level...and to provide encouragement and incentive for teaching achievements."

Dr. Ephron came to UM in 1935 and teaches classical languages and literature. She received her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Montana and received her doctorate in classics from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Alt joined the University faculty in September 1965 as an assistant professor and was promoted to associate professor of geology in 1967. He holds a bachelor's degree from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.; a master's degree from the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. He received his doctorate at the University of Texas, Austin.

Since his UM appointment in 1968, Doss has taught courses and supervised activities in the UM Black Studies Program. He received his bachelor's degree in psychology from Ripon College, Ripon, Wisc., and his master's degree in philosophy from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. He also has a Bachelor of Divinity degree from Garrett Theological Seminary, Evanston, Ill.

Dr. Toole has been with the University since 1965. He received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from UM and his doctorate in western history at the University of California, Los Angeles.
